ENDOWMENT FUND
ENTERTAINMENT FOR LEGION

Tomorrow night Richmond Post No. 10 American Legion begins a week of amusement and entertainment in an effort to raise its share toward the National American Legion Endowment Fund.

No small amount of credit is due the committee and other members of the Legion who in spite of great odds have successfully arranged for the entertainment of the week.

Sorry experiences have resulted in the past from some affairs which had as their objective the raising of funds for charitable purposes. However recognizing the shortcomings of these same affairs the Legion committee sought and heeded advice and counsel from every quarter possible and indications at the present time are that the concessions and side shows in connection with occasion will be the best conducted and cleanest of its kind that has ever been produced here.

To protect themselves as well as the public every concession and side show at the affair will be supervised by a member of the Legion committee. In no way casting a reflection upon the propriety of the show this method assures the Legion as well as every one of its patrons that everything is clean and above board.

Two parades are to be staged by the Legion. The one tomorrow night will to a large extent be an announcement of the opening of the amusement week, and a fitting prelude to the welcome by the city and legion to the Disabled War Veteran who is to rule during the week of celebration.

The Armistice Day parade is to be of a more pretentious nature and local fraternal organizations and other bodies have already signified their intention of entering drill teams and other bodies.

Enough can not be said for the spirit shown by the local Legion Post in their determination to see that Richmond supplied its share toward the endowment fund. The support which this fund has received in all parts of the section is enough to indicate its need and value. A surplus of drives for funds in Richmond prompted the Veterans to use some other means to raise their quota.

Even though the full amount of Richmond's quota, $2,000 is not raised during the week, if the committee conducts its amusement week along the lines that have been indicated they will have gone a long distance toward their goal.

CONTRA COSTA
SCOUTMASTERS
HOLD MEETING

Scoutmasters from all parts of Contra Costa county were in Richmond last night to attend the monthly meeting of the Scoutmasters associations. Thirty-five members and their wives were in attendance. Harold Garrard president, was in the chair.

The scoutmasters conducted the meeting in the same manner in which a Boy Scout troop conducts its meetings and the masters compared ideas and plans for the furtherance of the movement in the county.

G. P. Glineburg, scout executive, announced last night, that November 14 has been set as "The Day." The Scouts will sell 1000 tags at ten cents apiece to raise money to pay for the poppy seeds sewn along Cutting boulevard. He also announced that on next Sunday, Wesley Methodist-Episcopal church would observe Boy Scout day.

An entertainment of songs and music was rendered last night and the evening was topped off with refreshments served under the direction of Glineburg.

Bank Deposits Show That Officers Were Receiving Large Sums Of Hush Money

(By Universal Service)

FRESNO, Nov. 7.—Federal indictments on charges of conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws were returned today against 13 Fresno policemen and graft evidence was turned over to county authorities against 3 more. County officials announced that a thorough investigation would be made of the charges. The Fresno police scandal is believed to be the greatest prohibition conspiracy exposed in the country. The outstanding development today was the arrest of acting police chief Eugene A. Fornes, who was recently appointed to reorganize the Fresno police department.

Evidence presented to the Grand Jury indicated that the Fresno police under indictment had accepted at least $120,000 from bootleggers. Evidence presented showed that one former captain of the police force received $7,500 yearly from rum sellers.

Bank deposits which were brought into the evidence, according to United States Attorney S. W. McNab produced some of the most amazing evidence. One week, the bank records, showed an officer deposited his bi-monthly pay check of $30 and the next week a deposit of $1,400 in cash. In addition to Fornes the following were placed under arrest:

Captain Albert T. Trusdell, Detective Sergeants Miles R. Linkous, Guy Shoun, Edgar R. Nichols, Thos. R. O'Brien, Herman W. Borchers, and Oliver P. Durr; Sergeants Clifford Fairre and Harold L. Richter; Patrolmen Percy E. Kruger; Former Captain Ben A. Whitstrom, and William H. Morris, former patrolman.

Statewide Search
On For Escaped
Folsom Convict

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 7.—From this city to the Mexican border armed posses of traffic officers and city policemen are watching constantly for an escaped convict from Folsom prison, believed to be fleeing to the protection of his sweet-heart in Tijuana. In the meantime prison guards and deputy sheriffs are conducting a vigorous search of the hills about the prison.

Lyman Vaughn, is the convict. He stole an automobile from William Comstock, a free man who was working with him as an electrician at the penitentiary power plant. The number of the machine, 481,280, has been flashed throughout the state.

Vaughn was a trusty at the power plant and his escape was not discovered until several hours after his departure. He was in prison for a term of four years for automobile stealing.

This escape is the second from Folsom in the last week. Walter Smith a forger, who fled from Folsom a few days before has not yet been apprehended.

Twenty-one nations of the world were represented among the 120 persons attending the meeting banquet, and program given at the get-together and "get acquainted" party of the Cosmopolitan club in the cafeteria of the Roosevelt Junior High school last night. The countries represented at the meeting were: United States, Scotland, France, Germany, Italy, Greece, Mexico, Switzerland, Norway, Spain, Sweden, Persia, Russia, Belgium, Portugal, Ireland, Canada, Holland, England, Wales, and Argentine.

Mrs. Emily Axell, director of the Americanization work in Richmond declared that the members of the club overruled her desire to have flags of all nations as decorations. As they are becoming Americans, the aliens wanted only American flags. These banners were all about the hall and were loaned by the Richmond lodge of Elks.

The program was as follows:

Mrs. W. W. Chapin, solo.
Mrs. William Turtle, reading.
Mrs. M. Stuart, solo.

ERNIE NEVERS INJURED WHEN HE PREVENTS THIRD TOUCH-DOWN FOR HUSKIES

UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON STADIUM, Seattle, Nov. 7.—Coach "Pop" Warner's Stanford Cardinals were eliminated from all chances of the championship of the Pacific Coast conference this afternoon, when they went down to defeat before the University of Washington Huskies, 13 to 0, with a crowd of 40,000 looking on.

The Huskies scored the first time when Guttormsen received a pass from Wilson in the second quarter. Then in the last period Louis Tesler intercepted a pass by Murphy of Stanford and ran through a broken field to a touchdown.

Both George Wilson, Washington star half, and Ernie Nevers, Stanford's great full, were forced from the game on account of injuries. Nevers went out on a tackle after he had chased Guttormsen 87 yards and caught him, preventing a third touchdown for the Huskies.

Tonight the race for the pennant of the coast, stands between the Huskies and the Bear. This will be settled next Saturday when the Washington eleven travels to Berkeley where Coach Enoch Bagshaw will match wits with Coach Andy Smith.

Son Searching for Father Makes Ghastly Find in Deserted House

MISSING SINCE OCTOBER 1ST

Aged Man Lived by Himself in Wild Cowan Valley Near Napa

NAPA, Nov. 7.—Possibility that E. E. Hopp, 83, for 30 years a resident of the wild and isolated Cowan valley, twenty-six miles northeast of Napa had been brutally murdered was being investigated tonight by Napa authorities following the return of Sheriff J. A. Harris and District Attorney A. C. Anglin with the blood drenched garments of the aged man.

Reports that Hopp had been missing for some time were made to Sheriff Harris by a son of the old Cowan valley resident. This son, a Napa businessman, stated that Hopp, who lived by himself had been missing since October 1.

It was first believed that Hopp had gone into the mountains where he died, but after a thorough examination of the aged mans house the son discovered the blood soaked garments, including a pair of trousers underwear and a coat.

No trace of the body could be found and it is believed that the murderer took the body away and buried it in some unknown spot.

The clothing has been sent to the Stanford hospital in San Francisco for an examination of the blood stains.

The son stated that he left the clothing where he found them while searching for his father when he rushed back to Napa to report his gruesome find to District Attorney and Sheriff Harris. These two officials went to the house, made a thorough investigation and returned with the ghastly evidence.

RUM RUNNING IS THEME OF FILM AT RICHMOND

Rum running on a wholesale scale is shown in "Contraband". Alan Crosland's newest Paramount production coming to the Richmond Theatre today.

The inside workings of the transportation of contraband liquor, an illegal industry which the government combats at an annual cost of millions, are faithfully depicted.

The featured roles in "Contraband," Clarence Budington Kelland's story, which Jack Cunningham adapted for screen use, are played by Lois Wilson, Noah Beery, Raymond Hatton and Raymond McKee.

Miss Wilson has the role of Carmel Lee, a young girl who inherits a small-town newspaper and uses it to expose a rum ring using a deserted hotel in the outskirts of the town as a storehouse for the liquor which they smuggle over the border in motor trucks.

The sheriff of the county disappears and the girl is told to "lay off" making any mention of the disappearance in her paper, but she goes right ahead and gets out an edition headed "What Happened to Sheriff Churchill?" She is made a prisoner by the rum-runners.

From this point the picture builds to a real smash climax. There are fights, thrills, drama, comedy. To see "Contraband" is to be entertained.

Other features on the same program include "Circus Fever", an "Our Gang" comedy; "Kinograms" world news events.

RIPPING MAD!

When a smart alec of an upper classman gets fresh with your best and only girl, who is going to blame a poor fresbie for getting ripped mad? Ripping off his ripped coat, the rip-raring fresbie lands a blow on the bully's jaw and knocks him for a bunch of shooting stars!

The scene is one of the thrilling moments in Harold Lloyd's laughter knock-out, "The Freshman," which starts a three day engagement tomorrow at the California theatre. This is the first time the famous comedian has ever been seen in a college story. Harold, of course, is the freshman—a beginner who enters college with the humble ambition to become the most popular kid on the campus. Jobyna Ralston is the freshman's sweetheart, and Brooks Benedict is his greatest tormentor.

TOMATO HARVEST ENDED BY FROST

Green tomato shipments also stopped today, six cars having already been shipped to eastern markets.

Added Attraction At Local Theater

There will be on exhibition all of today the world's smallest domestic animals, male and female Herford cattle, Arizona Twins, seven year old toys alive; the world's smallest horse alive; and the famous Great Dane Bog "Bud," the dog with the gold teeth, weighing 162 pounds, said to be the biggest dog ever appearing on the stage or in pictures.

They are a sight to behold! This group of Midget features travel in their own special car.

INN KEEPER IS FINED $400

CALIFORNIA HAS VERSATILE BILL IN TODAY'S SHOW

The International Road Show of five acts of vaudeville which comes to the California Theatre today would be hard to beat for all round excellence. It teems with comedy and each act has some distinctive quality that patrons like to find when variety is kept to such a high standard. The screen feature "Lovers in Quarantine," starring Bebe Daniels, too is more than just six reels of film—it's a real entertainment.

It is hard to differentiate between the quality of the acts as each and every one has merit.

A palinist who can make sixteen coins disappear is no ordinary manipulator and Manuel proves in his twelve minute performance that he is on a par with the best in his line of endeavor. A few card tricks interspersed lends variety.

Four Southern entertainers with some unusual novelty numbers are the Dixie Harmony Four. These colored melody men inject some worth while stunts in their repertoire that are original and funny.

"Love Birds" is the title of the act of Keating and Ross a young couple with the diminutive feminine holding down the comedy end of the act with pep and personality. For knockabout comedy this act supplies a full share that's wholesome and laughable.

"A Celestial Rarity" otherwise a trio of Chinese Singers and musical artists are sure to be big favorites. They offer in turn ballad and jazz numbers in a fitting way that has a universal appeal.

"The Snappy Six" a sextette of juvenile performers with song and dance diversions are the last word in versatility.

Bebe Daniels and Harrison Ford—there's a combination which should tickle the comedy-loving public's palate.

These two laugh-makers play opposite each other in Bebe's latest Paramount starring picture, "Lovers in Quarantine."

The story is one of a ship's bride and a strange honeymoon—of Bebe, as Diana Gordon, a darling little society miss who elopes with her sister's fiancé. It's fast and furious fun from start to finish.

Alfred Hunt, Edna Gray and other big stage and screen favorites appear in the cast.

Other features on the same program include the laugh duo Cliff Bowes and Virginia Vance in "Scrambled Eggs"; "Kinograms" world news events; Carl Richard's California Orchestra; Larry Canelo, at the huge organ.

Lena DeGeorgis Funeral is Held

Lena DeGeorgis, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DeGeorgis, 145 South Thirty-sixth street, was laid to rest yesterday afternoon in Sunset View cemetery, with services conducted from the Wilson and Kratzer chapel at 2 o'clock. She leaves her parents, a brother, Peter 19, and a sister, Christen, 12.

Cooperative Heads Approve Plan to Extend Activities

On Thursday and Friday of last week Secretary of Agriculture Jardine was in conference with a representative group of national leaders of cooperative marketing associations to determine their wishes as to how the United States Department of Agriculture might more effectively serve the cooperative movement in its many aspects. For several weeks Secretary Jardine has conferred with cooperative leaders from different sections of the country with the desire to determine how the work of the department might be directed to be more helpful to this important farm movement.

The conference of some twenty leaders last week heartily approved the idea of extending the work of the department and worked out a definite plan to bring this about. Among other things it is proposed that the work of the department should be strengthened by the establishment of a Division of Cooperative Marketing. According to a statement made at the Department of Agriculture today this plan meets the unqualified approval of Secretary Jardine. It is pointed out, however, that this plan is in its formative stage and will be discussed with other cooperative leaders during the next few weeks with the idea in mind that a definite proposal, with the support of all cooperative organizations, will be presented at the coming session of Congress.

BOX CARS GO ON WILD RUN INJURING ONE

OAKLAND, Nov. 7.—A pair of box cars of the Western Pacific left the locomotive in a huff late last night, sped along East Twelfth street as though on a joy ride, ignored the stop signal of Traffic Officer Carl L. Anderson, ignored the officer himself, knocked an automobile out of their path and continued down the street quite merrily.

Anderson who resides at 2356 Bartlett street, suffered an injured shoulder and hip after being knocked ten feet by the automobile, driven by John A. Frank, who happened to be in the path of the mad box cars. Frank had obeyed one of Anderson's go signals but little did the cars care for signals while on their ram page.

Anderson stayed on the job directing traffic until relieved. The crew of the locomotive sent out keepers to recapture the cars and were informed by the officer they "kept right on going after leaving him" and advised the keepers to "keep after them—you're on their trail." They overtook the refugees several blocks down the track.

HORNER WORKS AS OFFICIAL AT TITLE GAME

Clare D. Horner local attorney and football advocate, was one of the officials at the Technical-Fremont high school game Friday for the championship of the Oakland league. More than 10,000 saw the game the largest crowd ever to see a high school clash in Oakland. The Tech bulldogs won, 16 to 0.

Both contestants for the Oakland pennant were downed by the flashy gridders of Richmond this year. Early in the season Richmond journeyed to Oakland where she scored a 6 to 0 victory over Tech on an intercepted forward pass and a long run by Rowdy Dyer.

A couple of weeks later, Fremont came to Richmond and was trounced worse than Tech, going down 7 to 0. This victory was well earned as Richmond carried the ball across the line on traffic plunges.

COUGARS WALLOPED

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Berkeley, Nov. 7.—Plunging and bucking and tearing as if possessed, the Golden Bear swept the Washington Cougars from its path yesterday and won 35 to 0. A 65-yard run to the goal by Dixon, was a feature of the game. Jabs, single handed was responsible for the Bruin's first touchdown. Washington was always helpless.

BEAR FROST WINS

STANFORD STADIUM, Nov. 7.—The Midgits wearing the Cardinal colors were trounced 14 to 0 by the Bear cubs here this afternoon. Always plunging and fighting like their fathers in Berkeley, the Bruin babies tore their way, as cubs will, through everything the Card Frosh could put up. They scored once in the third period and in the last.

PRINCETON WINS, 36-0

PALMER STADIUM, Princeton, Nov. 7.—The mighty forces of crimson from Harvard were crushed in their every endeavor today, when they met the Princeton Tigers. The final score was 36 to 0. Princeton played a radio game, always in the air. This was the first of the big three series and Harvard supporters were sorely disappointed at the showing of their team.

GRANGE GOES AGAIN

URBANA, Illinois, Nov. 7.—Illinois hit its stride again today, or rather Red Grange did. Leading his team all the way the big full back plunged and tore his way through to a 18 to 6 victory over the University of Chicago. The game was a comedy of fumbles, spills and errors, due to the worst playing conditions the teams have ever faced.

SERVICE MUST ACCOMPANY CAR SALES OF TODAY

"People are looking to the car dealer for more than a car these days," says J. P. Strom, Hudson-Essex dealer.

"The motorist has been gradually finding out that local responsibility for his car properly centers in the place where he bought the car. And today fewer people than ever consciously buy either a car or service without that element of responsibility which is the protection of the motorist against exploitation."

"The car dealer is the one who logically is expected to assume this responsibility. He is usually the most permanent local factor in the business. And he is the one to whom the elements of good will and confidence represent the greatest value. Without them he soon ceases to be a business factor."

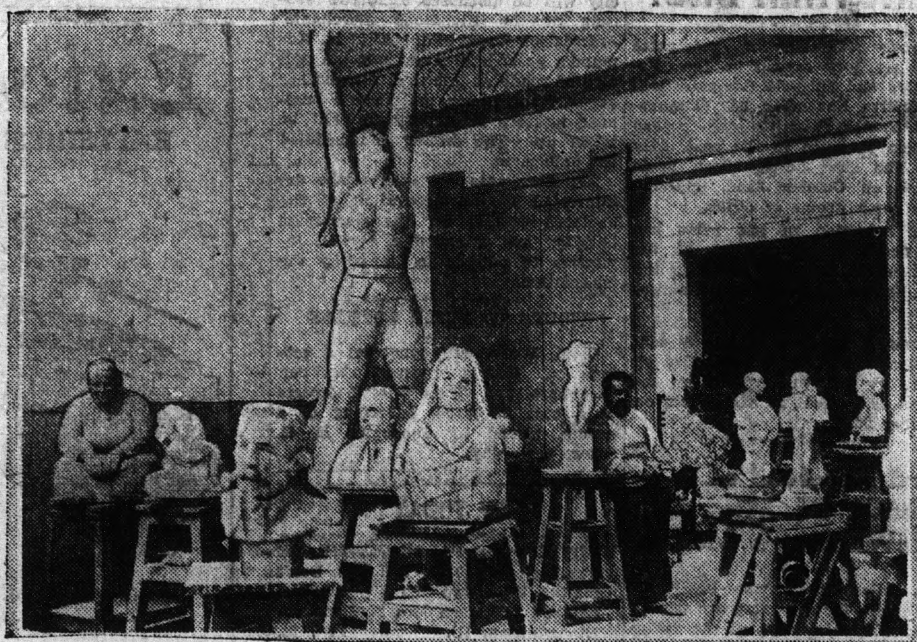

"And he is said to the credit of good dealers everywhere that they are measuring fully up to the increasing demand for more than just a car."

Carnival Night at Veteran's Dance

Last night was "Carnival Night" at the Veterans' hall room in Memorial hall and it was declared to be one of the liveliest dances ever given in Richmond. There were masks, horns and plenty of serpentine free besides more than a dozen door prizes. Barry-Bibbons' Seven Harmony Kings furnished the syncope and featured some new dance arrangements by Bibbins.

The veterans and directors went the limit to make the affair the success that it was. Next Wednesday will be "Mothers' Night" and a gift will be presented to every mother who attends. Admission will be free for mothers and they are especially invited to be present.

Another important addition to Richmond's Automobile Row is being made here today with the announcement by the Richmond Star Motor Company that they have been granted the agency for the Star automobile for Richmond and will begin operation this morning at 333 Elgin street.

Charles M. Don is the general manager of the new firm and H. E. Brown is the sales manager. Both of these men have been connected with the Star Motor company for some time and are well versed on the subject which they will present to the Richmond motoring public.

A parade was held in Richmond yesterday by the new firm in which all models of the car which are built by the company were on exhibition. A complete line of all of these models are to be kept on exhibition at the salesrooms.

Special stress is to be placed on personal service for all cars sold by the local organization, according to Don. Long term contracts with low interest rates, and a factory guarantee are some of the inducements which the new firm promises to offer to their prospective clients.

Quick Action Saves Man From Flames

OAKLAND, Nov. 7.—When a chemical explosion and fire occurred in the Oakland Plating works, 517 Eighteenth street, this morning, John Pessi narrowly escaped with his life, due to the effort of Louis Stagnaro, a fellow employee, who hurried him bodily into a large vat of water.

The plant was completely destroyed by the fire that followed the explosion, which shattered several windows. The owner reported that the explosion was caused by chemicals boiling over onto a baking oven used in the plating process.

The burning chemicals were sprayed upon Pessi, who was working nearby, and the man ran about the place looking for help. He suffered a number of burns which were treated at the Emergency hospital.

Ten pieces of fire apparatus responded to the double alarm and the fire was kept within the building. The damage was estimated at about $6,000.

OFFICER DUSTED FOR CLUB BRAWL

OAKLAND, Nov. 7.—Inspector Joseph Robinson, member of the Oakland Police department since 1910, was summarily dismissed from service today upon orders from Commissioner Frank Colbourn.

Chief of Police James T. Drew conducted a three day investigation into charges against Robinson, following his alleged rowdy behavior in precipitating a brawl at the Athens club and dismissal came after his report. The alleged brawl occurred on Halloween.

"Neglect of duty; violence against a citizen; conduct unbecoming an officer, and conduct subversive to the good morals of the department, were the charges made against Robinson in Chief Drew's report.

Investigation followed a complaint of Robert Harper who attended the Halloween party at the club. Harper accused the inspector of beating him severely, striking his wife and attempting to strike Mrs. G. H. Dodge. Officials of the club demanded an investigation.

Eight witnesses were called to testify during the probe. Robinson summoned 12 character witnesses and others to testify that he was not drunk at the time.

The officials of the Athens club attempted to keep the affair a secret but the matter was made public when Harper entered his complaint and the officials then demanded the investigation.

This is the second reduction in rates in the past sixty days. The first having been made effective on October 22nd, applying to the same group of cities.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL WILL START HERE WEDNESDAY

Richmond will be called upon during the next week to subscribe its quota toward the Richmond Red Cross which will conduct its annual campaign here during the seven days beginning Wednesday.
Arthur A. Alstrom, one of the Red Cross directors here is the chairman in charge of the roll call here, which is expected to reach its quota in record time. This roll call according to Alstrom, is the annual enrollment of Red Cross members through which the work of the local chapter and the national and international work of the organization is financed.

A house-to-house canvas in the residential district as well as a canvas of the business district is a portion of the program, which has been laid out for the week. It will be the purpose of the solicitors to reach each and every individual in the community.

"The American Red Cross," Alstrom said, "is our most effective instrument for helping the unfortunate in our community, our state, and all over the world. This community is one of several thousand in the country which will conduct the roll call simultaneously. When the returns are in, I am confident that we will have done our part and will have the satisfaction of knowing that in all of its many humanitarian activities during the ensuing year, we still have a personal part." The American Red Cross is race, creed and color blind. It sees in suffering only a challenge to be accepted. The least that we can do is to make possible a continuance of its good work.

Red Cross Urges Every American to Enroll in Mercy Legion Ranks

Always first in the list of its activities is the care of the service and service men, of whom 96,931 were aided every month in the past year—in hospitals, at home, in the forces of the United States, and wherever else the need arose. Second in importance to this paramount duty, was the Red Cross work in 61 disasters which struck the United States during the year, and in 29 foreign disasters in the same period.

LEARNING WAR'S LESSON

There appears from time to time intimations that the federal policy of economy contemplates a further cut in the appropriations for the army. The fundamental purposes of the federal government are to conduct our foreign relations, maintain an army and navy for the common defense, and provide a national currency.

Previous to the passage of the national defense act in the spring of 1916 we never had an adequate skeleton organization on which to build an army in case of war. Since the World war this statute has been subjected to amendments incorporating the lessons evolved from our experiences in the Great war and sponsored by General Pershing. The appropriations now barely meet the cost of putting this plan into operation. If they are cut we shall be in danger of mutilating the whole conception. When we consider the number of objects which are neither fundamental nor vital on which the federal government need not be used as an excuse to destroy the organization which was evolved by the best brains we created out of the expensive knowledge gained in the last year. The maintenance of the organization created by the national defense act is not unduly expensive. Its re-creation, once it is allowed to lapse, will be infinitely expensive, especially if the re-creation is done in haste and stress.

In the history of the United States there has not been a man who has lived to be forty years old who escaped living through a war.

Name of War:	Duration	Period of Peace To Next War
Revolution	1775-1781	31 years
War of 1812	1812-1814	42 years
Mexican war	1846-1848	13 years
Civil war	1861-1865	33 years
Spanish war	1898	19 years
World war	1917-1918

We entered each war with the minimum preparedness and the maximum expense. Every one was unnecessarily costly in men and money because of this. After every one the country has piously hoped that there would never be another war and promptly forgot everything possible. After the World war the national defense act was passed and it seemed at last as if we were about to use our experience to create a skeleton organization which could function effectively if history should be so unkind as to repeat itself.

The repeated suggestion for cutting the army appropriations indicate that we are beginning to forget. If we destroy the present plan of defense war in thirty years, the men who learned about war in 1917-1918 would be either dead or superannuated and what they learned would have been destroyed by saving—to the country's immense cost.—Extract, July, 1925, "The World's Work."

A BIT OF GOOD NEWS

America has set another record for magnitude—an amazing record in the field of popular education. For the first time in the history of the world more than a million children are now attending public school in a single city—New York. Daily this unthinkable army, a thousand and thousands of American boys and girls of every racial origin and creed, gathers up its million satchels and proceeds to school, elementary, junior high, high, training and vocational.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

If the average boy needs an example of speed and persistence, he can have it in the person of this "Red" Grange who is flashing his way across the barred fields of back east football stadiums these days.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

By MARY MARSHALL

THEY DON'T MATCH

FOR some time Englishmen have shown a surprising fondness for wearing coats and trousers that didn't match. Americans are frequently surprised at this peculiarity, which to them seem simply as if the Englishmen in question had been too careless to get his clothes on in suits, but had snatched up the first coat or waistcoat or pair of breeches that his hand came upon.
This summer you may have noticed that the fashion has been quite general among men who follow the fashion to wear light flannel trousers with darker coats. One English gentleman, who is always regarded as quite correct in such matters, has worn on several occasions trousers of a pale biscuit color with a brown and white golf coat; and a well-dressed English lord wore at one of the smart summer races silver gray trousers with coat of herringbone homespun in a slightly darker shade.

CAKE DESSERTS

There are all sorts of interesting desserts that you can make with little cakes for the foundation.
One is fudge shortcake. Split cup cakes, put hot fudge sauce between the layers and on top of each cake, add a spoonful of whipped cream.
Another is peach shortcake. Put sliced and sweetened peaches between the layers and on top and add whipped cream.
Ice cream surprise is made by cutting off tops of cup cakes, scooping out a hollow, filling it with ice cream, and topping with the top of the cake.

SYNOPSIS

It's a very worried group in Aunt Celmena's house in Connecticut. By midnight Connemara Moore was to announce her engagement—to Bing Carrington or Salt Adams—or be disinherited by auntie. Instead, Connie, disguised as a nun, slipped out of the house, hailed, young Dave Lacy as he was driving past, and, though she had never seen him before, climbed into his car. Now Connemara and David are on a ferry-boat, crossing Long Island Sound toward the New York shore.

CHAPTER V—Continued

"It won't be necessary to make a profession out of it. This is not a permanent flight by any means. And," she added, touching his arm ever so slightly, "you've no idea how grateful I am to you for the loan of your wings."

A bare-chested oiler rose, Me-phistophelean, from the red maw below the engine-room gratings. He stood gulping the air, one hand braced against the jamb of the door while with the other he mopped his face with a bunch of greasy waste. Connemara observed him thoughtfully. "I should think men like that would make good athletes. They get so soaked in oil they must work easier than most people."

Lacy did not deign a reply. His mind was feverishly attempting to project itself into the future. The further it projected the more complex the situation seemed to become, until finally the whole affair broke off of its own weight and dropped into the abyss of chaos. The oiler stared at the pair for a moment and then disappeared.

A man squeezed through the pas-fully brushed the knees of his baggy trousers, and then, without straightening up, proceeded to examine the license plate of the Isotta. Apparently satisfied by his inspection, he drew from his inside pocket a torn piece of paper which he read by the aid of the light over the engine-room door.

Lacy and Sister Connemara watched his movements with interest. The night had already offered such proof of the abundance of its sensations that they had both arrived at a state of acceptance such as Alice must have reached when she rose from the Mad Hatter's tea party. Nor was their trust to be abused.

The check suit squeezed along the side of the Isotta. Without so much as a glance at the occupants of the front seat, it opened the rear door and calmly unbuckled the floor carps of the tonneau. A swift, searching hand was inserted under the loose corner—a long hand with thin, tapering fingers, quite out of keeping with its home torso, a hand that might sever a watch from its chain or a baby from its mother without the owners of either of these articles being in the least aware of their loss.

When it reappeared it gripped between an unaltered thumb and forefinger a second torn bit of paper. This the owner of the hand compared with the piece which he had taken from his pocket. Then carefully and deliberately he placed the two torn ends together. The jagged ends fitted like neighboring bits of a picture puzzle.

The knuckles of Constance Mary's hand showed white from the tenseness of her grip on the side of the car. The soft material of her mask reflected her short, sharp breathing. The color had left Lacy's face. He stared at the fantastic stranger with the horrified glare of one who has just witnessed the execution of a ghastly and foul deed.

The performer, on the other hand, registered relief on every crimson feature. "I'm Pooch," he admitted with a bright smile, and then added, "Thank God" either in gratitude for his identity or for some unknown and extraneous reason. Without further introduction he climbed through the open door of the tonneau and sank heavily into the back seat.

Lacy glanced at Sister Connemara. Her gaze was fixed on him as if he had just dropped a bomb before it and he focused his attention on this second addition to his evening's entertainment.

"So you're Pooch?" he said finally, not so much because he doubted as from an uneasy feeling that the conversation must be maintained.

"In the flesh," boasted Mr. Pooch. "Cast your peepers over the pass-ports."

He handed the two slips of paper to Lacy. Under the hooded dashboard light the man and the girl examined them curiously. They were two parts of a sheet torn from a pad of cheap, ruled writing paper. On either half was printed a number which corresponded with the license number of Lacy's car. On the reverse side of each half was written "511st" and underneath this was drawn a crude anchor around which a snake had apparently retired for the night.

"Here's the rest on it," said Mr. Pooch, and bending over the front seat he injected a hairy forearm into the tiny circle of light. On the inner side of the limb was neatly engraved a small blue anchor passionately embraced by a sea serpent.

"Guess y' can't object to that," said Mr. Pooch complacently. Lacy looked from the two bits of paper to the white shrouded head beside his, back to the rear seat where a luminous glow indicated the unhandsome features of Mr. Pooch along the shiny bonnet of the car to the tail light of the truck in front, and back to the papers. Through his mind for the second time that evening there passed memories of other red-letter days, and nights, of his life—doing the Human Fly across the front of a Venetian palace while the siren object of his Lloydian amours mocked him with Virginia tobacco rings from window to window; thrilling days in the souvenir belt of New Guinea, carving over-congenial gorillas in the privacy of his tent; a scientific experiment to prove the theory that one American is as good as six Frenchmen, conducted in an open-air laboratory off the wharves of Brest.

The bizarre vision stepped clear of the rear end of the truck, care-
